

INDEX

TO

VOLUME LV.

Africa, Past and Present, 515.
'Attic Salt,' Collins's, 498.
'Atonement, The,' Cooper's, 465.
'Australian Abroad, The,' Hingston's, 505.
'Ballads and Other Poems,' Tennyson's, 477.
'Beekeeper's Manual, The,' Taylor's, 259.
'British Bee Farming,' Robinson's, 259.
'Bible Doctrine of Man,' Laidlaw's, 206.
'Book of Job,' Clarke's, 462.
'Byron,' Nichol's, 500.
'Christ, The,' Navile's, 472.
Christianity and the Science of Religion, 376 ; objects of the science of religion, 377 ; sensationalism untrue, 379 ; improved statement necessary, 381 ; results of development, 383 ; new method needed, 385 ; monotheism original, 387 ; Scripture the primary source, 389 ; religion from God, 391.
'Chronology of Medicine,' Richard's, 258.
'Churches of Asia,' Cunningham's, 450.
'Commentary on Romans,' Godet's, 392.
'Commentary on Romans,' Philippi's, 392.
'Collected Sonnets,' Turner's, 477.
'Constitution of the Earth,' Ward's, 248.
'Constitutional Liberty,' Sguin's, 524.
'Country of the Passion Play,' Sguin's, 264.
'Critical Handbook to Romans,' Meyer's, 392.
'Curiosities of Puritan Nomenclature,' Bardsley's, 522.
Devotion of Nehemiah, The, 149 ; his vocation, 151 ; before Artaxerxes, 153 ; as a reformer, 155 ; Sambat, Tobiah, and Geshem, 157 ; the dedication of the wall, 159 ; return to Jerusalem, 161 ; the Sabbath vindicated, 163 ; zeal for God, 165 ; "remember them," 167 ; the New Testament, 169.
Doctrine of the Spirit in the Romans, 392 ; general view, 393 ; the two Christological pillars, 395 ; the spirit of holiness, 397 ; holiness and consecration different, 399 ; Godet's theory of incarnation, 401 ; our Lord not consecrated by Holy Spirit, 403 ; Meyer's subordinationism, 405 ; first mention of the Spirit, 407 ; absence of the Holy Ghost, 409 ; the eighth chapter central, 411 ; the indwelling spirit, 413 ; dishonour to the Third Person, 415 ; the Spirit and Righteousness, 417 ; the Spirit and Sonship, 419 ; the Spirit and Sanctification, 421 ; fervent in spirit, 423 ; "the power of the Holy Ghost," 425 ; "the love of the Spirit," 427.

Dr. Hebert on the Lord's Supper, 1 ; the primitive Christians, 3 ; Richard Hooker, 5 ; Romanists and Ritualists agree, 7 ; the Council of Trent, 9 ; Dr. Pusey on Tract No. XC., 11 ; Bishop Thirlwall condemns Dr. Pusey, 13 ; the doctrine of the Real Presence, 15 ; the growth of error, 17 ; Clement of Rome, 19 ; the sacrificial idea, 21 ; the forged decretals, 23 ; Bishop Wilberforce on fasting communion, 25 ; Clementine fables, 27 ; evening communion a primitive practice, 29 ; the figurative interpretation of the Eucharist, 31 ; the Lord's Supper not a sacrifice, 33 ; Bertram on the Lord's Supper, 35 ; reformers on the doctrine of the Lord's Supper, 37 ; Mr. Bennett's changed views, 39.

Dr. Rigg's Discourses on Philosophy, 98 ; the present conflict, 99 ; warnings, 101 ; the Unknowable Power, 103 ; growth of unbelief, 105 ; agnosticism, 107 ; evolution, 109 ; final causes, 111 ; evolution and physical science, 113 ; agnosticism and the future, 115 ; hopeful signs, 117.

'Duff's Missionary Lectures,' Smith's, 229.

'Encyclopædia Britannica,' Vols. II. and III., 72.

'English Plant Houses,' Earle's, 525.

'English Poets,' Ward's, Vols. I. and II., 246.

'Ephphatha,' Farrar's, 217.

'Ethical Aspect of Confession,' Thornely's, 466.

'Evangelical Revival,' Dale's, 458.

'Faiths and Fashions,' Greville's, 520.

'Family Prayer and Sermon Book,' Vaughan's, 470.

'Faust,' Blackie's, 477.

Faust : the Poem and its English Critics, 118 ; the character of Margaret, 119 ; Coleridge on Faust, 121 ; profound spirituality of Faust's character, 123 ; Faust and Wagner, 125 ; Auerbach's Keller at Leipzig, 127 ; is Faust devoid of unity ? 129 ; the central idea of the poem, 131 ; transition from the first to the second part, 133 ; the first guest of Helen, 135 ; in Faust's study again, 137 ; on the banks of the Peniros, 139 ; Homunculus's baptism, 141 ; the second part of Walpurgisnacht, 143 ; Euphorion, 145 ; conclusion, 147.

'German Life and Literature,' Japp's, 497.

'Gifts of Civilisation,' Church's, 212.

'God's Saints and Men,' Hamilton's, 477.

'Goethe,' Hayward's, 118.

'Gospel for the 19th Century,' 198.

'Gospel Miracles,' Taylor's, 475.

'Great Pyramid and its Interpreters, The,' 265 ; Professor Smyth's views of inspiration, 267 ; astronomical knowledge of the ancients, 269 ; Cheops, Philitis, and Moses, 271 ; date of its erection, 273 ; millenarianism and astrology, 275 ; geographical position, 277 ; the three keys of interpretation, 279 ; its interior, 281 ; exterior measurement, 283 ; symbolic uses of its external dimensions, 285 ; distance of the sun and of Sirius, 287 ; obliquity of the earth's axis, 289 ; origin of weights and measures, 291 ; the French metrical system, 293 ; measurements of the coffer, 295 ; thermometers, &c., 297 ; aggregate population of the world, 299 ; the ark of the covenant and the molten sea, 301 ; prophetic chronology, 303 ; air passages, 305 ; the covenant of salt, 307 ; masonry courses, 309 ; interpretation of Scripture, 311 ; conclusion, 313.

'Guizot in Private Life,' De Witt's, 243.

'History of the English People,' Green's, Vol. IV., 224.

'How Readest Thou ?' Proctor's, 469.

'Huguenots of the Dispersion,' Poole's, 237.

'In Gipsey Tents,' Groome's, 512.

'Inspiration of the New Testament,' Browne's, 467.

'Introduction to the Philosophy of Religion, An.' Caird's, 72.

'Irish Distress,' Tuke's, 364.

Is Islam Progressive? 41 ; inspiration of the Qurán, 43 ; the Qurán a bond of union, 45 ; the Sunnat, 47 ; the Sunni and the Shí'a, 49 ; the Mutazilite freethinkers, 51 ; Arabian philosophy, 53 ; Al Ghazáli, 55, Sufism, 57 ; mysticism, 59 ; Akber, 61 ; the Wahhábis, 63 ; their idea of God, 65 ; Hindustani translation, 67 ; treatment of Christianity, 69 ; conclusion, 71.

'Japan.' Reed's, 333.

'Japanese Pottery.' Franks's, 333.

'Jesus of the Evangelists.' Row's, 202.

Kingsley's Works, Vol. XVIII., 254.

Land Question, The, in England and Ireland Contrasted, 364 ; some residents worse than absentees, 365 ; land practically unlimited, 367 ; evils of communism, 369 ; peasant proprietorship, 371 ; absurd outcry against parks, 373 ; Mr. Kinnear fails to prove his case, 375.

'Life of Gæthe.' Lewes's, 118.

'Lives of Leaders of the Church Universal.' Piper's, 455.

'Locke.' Fowler's, 500.

Methodist Conference of 1880, The, 171 ; the Lay Conference, 173 ; the thanksgiving fund, 175 ; the Birmingham college, 177 ; society and church, 179 ; prosperity or decline, 181 ; orthodoxy, 183 ; public worship, 185 ; the liturgy and the catechism, 187 ; public influence, 189 ; the class-meeting, 191 ; the Conference conversations, 183 ; the ideal Conference, 185 ; the president, 187.

'Messianic Prophecies.' Delitzsch's, 445.

'Minutes of Conference.' 1880, 171.

National Education, English and Continental, 314 ; higher laws and unrecognised conditions, 315 ; ancient liberty and modern compulsion, 317 ; social and sanitary tests of education, 319 ; remaining barbarism and ignorance in Germany, 321 ; court centres of art culture in Germany, 323 ; German primary school, 325 ; the merits of the pupil teacher system, 327 ; what England cannot learn from other countries, 329 ; the great educational want of England, 331.

'Nature's By-Paths.' Taylor's, 252.

'Niger and Benue.' Burdo's, 504.

'Ode of Life, The.' 492.

'Odyssey.' Avia's, 486.

'Old Testament Prophecy.' Leathes's, 208.

'Our Inheritance in the Great Pyramid.' Smyth's, 265.

'Our Own Country.' 263.

'Our Indian Empire.' Banks's, 239.

'Outram.' Goldsmith's, 240.

'Parables of Our Lord.' Calderwood's, 215.

'Parliamentary History of the Irish Land Question.' O'Brien's, 364.

'Pharmacology.' Brunton's, 256.

'Policy of Life, The.' Brown's, 464.

'Poems.' Holmes's, 492.

'Primitive Folk Moots.' Gomme's, 502.

'Principles of Property in Land.' Kinneir's, 364.

'Proceedings of the Royal Colonial Institute.' 508.

'Process of Human Experience.' Cyples's, 222.

Protest of the Würtemberg Clergy against Methodism, 428 ; the theses, 429 ; Methodism, and the Reformed Churches, 431 ; Donatism, 433 ; Doctrine, 435 ; political ethics, 437 ; the "Mary spirit," 439 ; uncharitable spirit, 441 ; separation, 443.

'Psychic Facts.' Harrison's, 517.

'Pulpit Commentary, The.' 149.

Recent Travels in Japan, 333 ; the tyranny of consuls, 335 ; buying up Japanese gold, 337 ; European dress, 339 ; no beggars, 341 ; the shrine of Isé, 343 ; choice of missionaries, 345 ; native mission-work, 347 ; Akamatz and the reformed Buddhists, 349 ; Christianity and war-steamers, 351 ; origin of the Japanese race, 353 ; massacres of Christians, 355 ; Miss Bird, in Aino-land, 357 ; Aino beauty and modesty, 359 ; Japanese art, 361 ; Sir E. Reed's illustrations by native artists, 363.

'Religious Belief.' Quarry's, 473.

Religious Condition of Christendom, The, 219.
 'Religious Life and Thought,' Horne's, 72.
 'Ricket of the Tuft,' 477.
 'Rise of the Huguenots,' Baird's, 232.
 'Round about a Great Estate,' Jeffries's, 262.
 'Salvation, Here and Hereafter,' Service's, 72.
 'Sätze über den Methodismus,' Röslar's, 428.
 'Scotch Sermons,' 72.
 Tenth Lecture on the foundation of the late John Fernley, Banks's, 376.
 'Theistic Problems,' Sexton's, 476.
 'The Lord's Song,' Buxton's, 476.
 'Theocritus, Bion & Moschus,' Lang's, 490.
 Theological Change in Scotland, 72; the new school, 73; Caird on Intuitionism, 75; philosophy and revelation, 77; difference in unity, 79; willful philosophy, 81; the theistic arguments, 83; tendencies to Pantheism, 85; the true correlations, 87; the Scottish Churches, 89; theory of development, 91; Methodism and Rationalism, 93; Robertson Smith, 95; Horne's sermons, 97.
 'Transcendental Physics,' Zollner's, 517.
 'Unbeaten Tracts in Japan,' Bird's, 333.
 'Visit to Wazan,' Watson's, 511.

